The Corpus Delicti Rule For DUIs

Corpus Delicti Rule

Before Defendant's Incriminating Statement is Admissible at Trial, State Must Show:

- 1) a reasonable inference that
- 2) a crime was committed by some person.

State v. Gillies, 135 Ariz. 500, 506 (App. 1983).

The Corpus Rule Only Addresses
Whether the Defendant's Statements are admissible to prove the crime.

It does not address – whether the State has proven the crime during trial.

PURPOSE FOR RULE

Concern Confession is Untrustworthy due to:

- 1. Mental Instability, or
- 2. Improper Police Procedures

State v. Superior Court (Plummer, RPI), 188 Ariz. 147 (App. 1996).

Point out no reason to fear either

NEED FOR RULE?

Consider - Rule Predates Other Procedural Protections:

- 1. Rule 11 Proceedings
- 2. Miranda v. Arizona
- 3. Voluntariness Hearings
- 4. Right to Counsel

Other State's Standard (Trustworthiness)

- State has to prove confession reliable not that the crime actually happened.
- Alaska, Connecticut, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, North Dakota [not Arizona].
- See, State v. Morgan, 204 Ariz. 166 (App. 2002).

Where Does It Come From?

"The corpus delicti rule was invented by courts," and although some states have codified the principle by statute, in most jurisdictions, including Arizona, it is "entirely a creature of the common law."

State v. Rubiano, 214 Ariz. 184, 186 (App. 2007).

Legal Basis For the Rule????

- Not Constitutional
- Not Statutory
- Not in the Rules of Evidence
- Not in Rules of Criminal Procedure
- Most Common Law was Rescinded in AZ

May Want to Preserve the Argument for Appeal

The State questions the continuing need and legal underpinnings for the corpus deletivitale. Due to the various safeguards, such as Aliranda and voluntariness, which did not exist before the rule, the corpus delicit rule has song outlived its usefulness. The State acknowledges, however, that this Courtie bound by published decisions of the Alizona's type ene Court that recognize the rule and will reserve its challenges to such time when the issue may be raised in the Supreme Court.

The Crime Does Not Have to be the Crime You are Using the Statement For It can be a closely related CHARGED crime. State v. Morgan, 204 Ariz. 166 (App. 2002); State v. Sarullo, 219 Ariz. 431 (App. 2008). Corpus Delicti May be proved by circumstantial evidence alone. State v. Rivera, 103 Ariz. 458, 445 P.2d 434 (1968).TIMING Evidence used to establish the reasonable inference need not be before the statement. A variation in the order of proof does not constitute prejudice. State v. Gerlaugh, 134 Ariz. 164 (1982)

Application of the Corpus Delicti Rule is for the Court

- Not the Jury
- Jury Instructions addressing the Corpus Rule are improper

State v. Jones, 198 Ariz. 18 (App. 2000); State v. Loyd, 118 Ariz. 106 (App. 1978).

The Corpus Rule Addresses a Preliminary Question of Admissibility

Is the defendant's incriminating statement admissible?

EVIDENCE RULE 104(A)

"Courts must decide any preliminary question about whether . . . evidence is admissible. In so deciding, the court is not bound by the Rules of Evidence, except those on privileges"

Hearsay should be admissible in a corpus hearing

EVIDENCE RULE 104(C)

- "The court must conduct any hearing on a preliminary question so that the jury cannot hear it if:
 - (1) the hearing involves the admissibility of a confession;"

This Rule assists if the defense objects during trial

Ruling of Admissibility

"The judge makes preliminary rulings on the admissibility of the evidence . . ."

Loyd, at 110, 574 P.2d at 1329.

Rule 104 & Hearsay Cases

- State ex rel. McDougall v. Superior Court (Plummer, RPI), 188 Ariz. 147 (App. 1996)(husband's hearsay statement used to assist in establishing inference of DUI).
- General Rule 104 cases State v.
 Edwards, 136 Ariz. 177 (1983); State v.
 Hutchinson, 141 Ariz. 583 (App. 1984);
 State v. Simmons, 131 Ariz. 482 (App. 1982).

Confrontation Clause Does Not Apply Pre-trial

Confrontation is a trial right

Pennsylvania v. Ritchie, 480 U.S. 39, 52 (); California v. Green, 399 U.S. 149, 157 (1970); Barber v. Page, 390 U.S. 719, 725 (1968).

So does not apply To Preliminary Questions of Admissibility

Minute Entry Ruling on Preliminary Admissibility Issue

■ Downey - Preliminary Issue

Often Have a Hearsay Exception

- Present sense impression
- Excited utterances
 - ■911 calls

Corpus Evidence Does Not Have to be Admissible

State v. Gerlaugh, 134 Ariz. 164 (1982) (co-defendant's statements – could not be used to determine defendant's guilt, but could be used to satisfy the corpus delicti rule)

State v. Barragan-Sierra, 219 Ariz. 276 (App. 2008).

DUI Corpus Cases

- Circumstantial & independent evidence corroborated defendant's admissions to drinking & driving (so held corpus rule inapplicable).
 - Defendant was found in home which was near crash scene
 - Visibly intoxicated
 - Nature of crash suggested impaired driving
 - Girlfriend indicated defendant just arrived home and sometimes drives the truck
 - She removed defendant's property from the truck before it was towed

State v. Gill, 234 Ariz. 186 (App. 2014).

DUI Corpus Cases

 State ex rel. McDougall v. Superior Court (Plummer, RPI), 188 Ariz. 147 (App. 1996). (Officer observed impaired driving. Both potential drivers were drunk – sufficient evidence that some person committed the crime of DUI)

DUI Corpus Cases

- □ State v. Villa, 179 Ariz. 486 (App. 1994).
 - □ Felony DUI -Drivers presentation of ID card and inability to produce license when request was repeated, supported inference license was suspended.
 - □ Because State gave more than enough evidence of underlying DUI charge, it was not required to present independent evidence of suspension as it only raises offense to a higher degree.

DUI Corpus Cases

- In re Felipe O, 2 CA-JV 2010-0097 UNPUBLISHED. ADD DATE
- Inoperable vehicle stranded on a curb when officer arrived. Officer arrived almost immediately after crash (odor of air bag powder). Defendant approached officer within "a minute," displayed signs of intoxication and had BAC of .157.
- Distinguishes Fair.

Commonly Cited Defense Case

- State v. Fair, 23 Ariz. App. 264 (1975)
 Court held State presented insufficient evidence of DUI for conviction (driving PAPC).
 Defendant did nor threes!!
 Case does not address the three delicti rule or if thence creates a deconable inference of DUI.
 (No evidence defendant was present when wrecked)

(No evidence defendant was present when wrecked vehicle found, vehicle not registered to defendant, chest pains could be from vomiting, no one testified defendant drove/APC.)

DUI Cases From Other States

- Commonwealth v. De Leon, 276 Pa. Super. 36, 419 A.2d 82 (Pa. Super. 1980). (One-car wreck – knocked down stop sign, defendant lying outside car, odor of alcohol; sufficient to prove corpus)
- Groves v. State, 479 N.E.2d 626 (Ind. App. 1985) (One-car crash – collided with a tree, car registered to defendant, six to eight other present, defendant impaired; sufficient to prove corpus)

DUI Cases From Other States

 County of Dade v. Pedigo, 181 So.2d 720 (Fla. App. 1966). (Evidence of a collision, drunk defendant standing by one of the cars, no one else connected with the vehicle.)

CORPUS Rule DOES NOT APPLY

■ To an accident (crash, wreck, collision) with an Injury

A.R.S. § 28-1388 (G):

A statement by the defendant that the defendant was driving a vehicle that was involved in an accident resulting in injury to or death of any person is admissible in any criminal proceeding without further proof of corpus delicti if it is otherwise admissible.

d

CORPUS Rule DOES NOT APPLY

 During a Guilty Plea Proceeding (court must find is knowing and voluntary)

State v. Rubiano, 214 Ariz. 184 (App. 2007)

BUT IT DOES APPLY

Villa, supra.; State v. Cook, 547 P.2d 50 (App. 1976), Rev'd on other grounds

■ To Allegations of Dangerousness (danger of confessing to a nonexistent crime does not exist when corpus delicti of the substantive crime charged has been proven)

■ To Statements Introduced at Sentencing State v. Scott, 177 Ariz. 131 (1993)
